Subject: DOL Fiduciary Rule comment

Sirs,

I have been a licensed insurance agent for nearly 40 years. I have established a reputation for doing the best planning for my clients by following both California and Federal rules. Adding new regulations will not make me a better agent or adding more regulations will not guarantee my clients will get better information. There are over 5000 insurance companies in the marketplace. I already do my best when finding and providing information and to suggest a plan to benefit my clients. At what point will new regulations drive me out of business because I did not analyze all 5000 companies to make sure I my client is getting the best service available. I already do that within reason.

Please do not make helping my clients much more difficult that it already is. This new Fiduciary Rule is not necessary and will not increase the service and benefits my clients now receive.
